J. P. Maddox vs. G. B. Brasfield et al, judgment for $115.

E. B. Shelton et al vs. S. S. Salmon, Jr., judgment for $54.

McDONALD INDICTED.

Eugene F. McDonald, of Lexington, was indicted by the Franklin circuit court on the charge of the murder of William R. Dabbs, an insurance agent working under him. Dabbs' body, with a bullet hole through his brain, was found near a tunnel mouth just east of Frankfort, June 16th. Twenty-four witnesses, among whom are Miss McNeil, of Hickman, who worked in McDonald's office at that time, are summoned to the trial, which begins Sept. 25th.

There is a city ordinance making it a fine to rough lock a wagon wheel on the streets of Hickman, and since gravel has been placed on the streets in the proper shape, this ordinance should be remembered.

The drouth still continues—but the backbone of summer has been broken.

H. C. Helm and wife returned Tuesday from a short stay in Nashville.

News Snapshots Of the Week

ALICE B. WILKINS, a Republican, made a clean sweep of the Republican ticket in Madison; Carl E. Milliken won governorship and Colonel Frederick Hale a senatorship. Again the allies commenced activities on all fronts; Bulgar trenches were rushed; Carpathian points stormed, while on the Somme front the French under General Foch made wide sweep on four mile front. Chick Evans won national amateur golf championship and R. Norris Williams recaptured his title of tennis champion. Motorboat "mosquito" fleet figured in naval preparedness maneuvers. New York for the second time in a month found itself harassed by a traction strike; motormen on the subway, "L" and surface cars were protected by wire screens. Though driven fast on the rocks at Santo Domingo City, the cruiser Memphis may yet be saved from total loss. Artist Ralph A. Blakelock of New York, now world famous, gets six months to prove sanity.

Jack McDaniel, of Jersey City, N. J., is visiting his parents, Marshall McDaniel and wife.

Mrs. Joe Bryant, of Memphis, is visiting her parents, Al Chetister and wife.

Mrs. E. B. Prather and daughter, Mrs. F. M. Maddox, left Tuesday for Nashville to spend a few days.

FORMER HICKMANITE DESCRIBES WAR ZONE.

Ed Hoen, an old Hickman boy, now living at Fresno, Cal., has just returned from England and Ireland, and gives the following account of his observations:

"Two months of England and Ireland leaves much to be remembered," said Hoen, "much one would like to forget and can't, and with all reluctance to leave until the great problem is solved."

Hoen left New York on June 10, accompanying his son, Max Hoen, and the latter's wife, who had theatrical engagements in England and France. He returned Saturday, after having seen much of Southern England and practically all of Ireland.

"I had the usual and unusual experiences of all visitors to countries in the great war. I was all but suspected of being a spy, I was made an involuntary frequenter of police stations, to continually assure the police that I had not changed over night from a friend to a foe, I saw hostile Zeppelins, but above all I saw a wonderfully patient and patriotic people faithfully doing their bit in a struggle that they would be glad to quit at a moment's notice."

"In Ireland I saw Dublin a few days after the Sean Fein riots. One look at the city and it seemed to me I was again viewing the destruction that was wrought by the earthquake and fire in San Francisco."

Not satisfied with the reproduction of his likeness on passport, the police again took his photograph, which was affixed to an identification book. Thereafter as the party moved from town to town, they were required to go first to the police and inform them of their leaving, and upon reaching their destination, again report to the police of that city that they had arrived. In Ireland it was the same.

At hotels the same procedure was followed. Here every alien was compelled to sign an applicant blank, which included information regarding the family for many generations back, together with any peculiarity in dress habits or character, that might be recalled by the applicant.

In Manchester, Hoen saw two Zeppelins. They were high above the city, too high for the air craft guns, which kept up a continual bombardment until they disappeared.

"It is and is not the great fear of England," explained Hoen. "People are always fearful of a raid, and yet when one comes everyone rushes into the street where they calmly watch the bombardment, as if it were a bit of fireworks."

"During the day scores of captive balloons watch for the hostile air craft. At 11 o'clock at night, which is an hour after sundown, the city became almost pitch dark except for hundreds of searchlights that incessantly comb the clouds for the little white line of light that denotes the craft."

"There are some men in England of serviceable age and health. They are policemen, government officials or toilers in the munitions factories. The rest, or nearly all of the rest, are either in training, at the front or in the hospitals."

"Everywhere it is woman. They are dressed in overalls, which they wear with a becomingness that seems impossible of such short acquaintance. Women run the trains, busses, cars, light street lamps, clean stations and coaches, work in foundries, and in fact do nearly everything but drive automobiles. The fact that no motor cars are driven save those in government service, partly accounts for this one branch of labor being left exclusively to the men."

"The women are wonderful. They never complain. The men are not half so brave, not half so patriotic. They lack the smile—which though forced, is the salvation of the people. What they would do without amusements and diversions I do not know."

"There is almost no enthusiasm. One sees drilled troops passing in trains every day. He sees recruits filling their places, and in the night, one sees the trains of wounded, carrying the grist of the battle field to the hospitals. Wounded everywhere, always wounded. Charity on every hand for the blind, for the deaf, for the cripples and orphaned, always charity, but enthusiasm never, or rather almost never. Real genuine enthusiasm might be had for the asking. Should one, for instance, in a restaurant so far forget himself as to order German fried potatoes, there would be enthusiasm and plenty of it, but after a certain pattern."

"Before the war the lace mills of London and Manchester were among the marvels of the world's commercial industries. Today a handful of boys are employed in the few mills that remain. On every hand are munitions factories, employing old men, women and boys, working three shifts of eight hours a day."

"The people are now making more money than any time within the past 50 years. Every family who has its head serving at the front has a 'separation allowance' from the government. In addition the members are working for good wages. It does not matter that work is not permanent or constructive, the money—borrowed or taxed—is pouring out on the people, who take it as unquestioningly as they take the very existence of the war."

"Only the government thinks logically. The government thinks not in terms of sentiment but in figures. A father of seven children is not sent to the front. The 'separation allowance' is too great, and in case of death, the pension is even greater. Such a father finds employment in the munitions factory, and another father, who perhaps is less favorably circumstanced, or who has but two children, is chosen. The government at least knows of a final accounting, and as long as it is possible, will take the least expensive men."

"The fact that one is an American seemingly raises three questions. Why are we not in the war? What do we think of Germany? Why did we let the Deutschland load a cargo here? It is best not to attempt answers for the more logical one becomes the more he is looked upon as a sympathizer to the Germans."

"There are many who are glad the United States has not entered the war. These point out that being out of it, we have been in a position to furnish England with weapons, whereas if we were fighting, we would probably have taken weapons for ourselves first and thought of England secondly."

"Others are really glad we are out of it, because of their own experience. Such people are found among the educated classes. Few actually hate us, although all believe we are piling on extra profits on food stuffs and munitions."

"After all, I am glad to get back. I would like England and Ireland without war. I like their people now."

County School Notes

By Miss Virginia Lutten

The new consolidated school at Cayce opened Monday with a large enrollment and many visitors present. Prof. G. L. Morelock, Principal of the McFerrin School, at Martin, Tenn., delivered a very excellent address at the opening exercises which was much enjoyed by all present. On the same date the new school at Sylvan Shade was opened with about two hundred pupils and patrons present. We are justly proud of these two splendid buildings and the hearty school spirit shown by these communities. We have every reason to expect excellent results in the work done at these schools during the term.

Prof. W. J. Craig, who is head of the Science Department of the Western Normal, will come to our county Oct. 30th and spend a week in visiting our schools. Arrangements will be made for several public meetings at some of the central schools and addresses will be made by Prof. Craig. Visits will be made to as many schools as possible so that a correct estimate can be made of the work our schools are doing, and that the Normal may get in close touch with the work and educational needs of the State. We shall be very glad indeed to have members of the faculty visit our county. Our high schools are also looking forward with pleasure to a visit from Mr. McHenry Rhoads, the State High School Supervisor.

Taylor school organized an Improvement League this week and from the interest shown we are expecting good results.

We are glad to see so many good pictures on the walls of our school rooms. Thanks to both teachers and pupils.

Blue Pond will have a box supper Friday night for the benefit of the school. This school is having unusually good attendance.

PROGRESS MADE IN AGRICULTURAL CLUBS

Jack Starr of Midland, Tex., and His Registered Duroc-Jersey Pig—Age of Pig Eleven Months, Weight 450 Pounds.

(By B. LARA.)

There has been an increase of more than 41,100 in the membership of various boys' and girls' agricultural clubs conducted by the state agricultural colleges and the department of agriculture.

Two years ago there were 210,077 members of the various agricultural club projects in the 32 states covered by this work. One year ago the membership had grown to 151,194, exclusive of the enrollments in the mother-daughter canning clubs.

This work is being carried on co-operatively in 26 of the 32 states in the northern, central and western territory by the department of agriculture and the extension departments of the state colleges of agriculture. In practically every state short courses for boys and girls and special demonstration schools have been held at the colleges and in the field. During the past year, 1,357 club members attended the midwinter courses at the colleges, 968 of these having their expenses paid by local contributions as a recognition of their achievements in club work. Of the 38 club members who, as champions in their states, districts or counties two years ago, have become recognized as National All-Star club members, 31 are now attending high schools, agricultural or other colleges, three of the remaining seven have already graduated from high school, and one will go to an agricultural college this next fall.

Experience has shown that the work in the boys' and girls' clubs can be carried on with even greater success without the aid of large cash prizes and awards. The net profits from the work itself have been found to be the best possible incentive. The members have their attention directed to problems of farm and home management, crop rotation, soil building, etc., and in practically every state in which the work is being carried on a large number of club members are now working out three and four-year rotations of crops. The profits which they derive from club work they are spending on getting an education, or for purchase of purebred stock and labor-saving machinery. Many are even buying land and thus acquiring an invaluable sense of dignity and independence.

In the canning work, 325 public demonstrations were held during the year, with a total attendance of 118,357. These demonstrations were held primarily for the club members, but parents were always invited and, as a matter of fact, more than half of those present were grown men and women. One of the great advantages of this club work, indeed, is the fact that it serves to stimulate the parents as well as the children.

Fine weather.

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight and Friday. Cool or Friday.

Nineteen years ago last Monday night a killing frost fell over Western Kentucky.

A light shower fell here at an early hour this morning, but the drouth continues—dating back to July 10th.

Dr. S. M. Martin, the evangelist, was greeted by a large congregation of ladies at the Court House Sunday afternoon, on which occasion he delivered a lecture for "ladies only." The address was very much enjoyed, teeming with wholesome truths.

Judge Bunk Gardner has established a precedent by empanelling his petit juries on the first day of the term of court, thus saving the taxpayers a day's cost of court, which amounts to a surprisingly large figure in the course of a year. He even goes further, and hears many of the smaller cases after supper, which is another big saving of both time and money. While the Judge is not looking, the Courier will rise to remark that Judge Gardner is making good—exceedingly good, and is the right man in the right place.

GRANDMOTHER'S SHAWL BACK IN FASHION.

The old shawl of grandmother's day is coming back into its own, along with a lot of Spanish frills and furbelows. This is the latest edict of fashion which will be exemplified in Chicago this week when modistes and designers from the leading cities of the country will gather to make known the modes for fall and winter.

Spanish hats, with small balls falling off the edge of the brim in typical Spanish fashion, will have the approval of the fashion operators.

Fundamental Principles of Health

By ALBERT S. GRAY, M.D.

(Copyright, 1914, by A. S. Gray)

SOUND TEETH AND BRAINS.

In spite of the prevalence of caries (tooth decay), the matter is generally left to individual initiative, which too frequently becomes operative only for the purpose of securing individual relief from pain. There is little organized effort made to combat the condition as a whole or to understand the enormously destructive effects of its neglect.

We are extremely particular about sanitation of the straps to which we hang in street cars, the ventilation of our public halls, and the like, and such matters are regulated by ordinance and the police power; but little thought is given to the twenty-three inch incubator that each individual carries into every public gathering or of its possible relation to individual and public health and progress. This view of the matter may possibly give peculiar interest to a publication entitled: "A Report of Scientific Experiments Conducted in the Cleveland Public Schools for the Purpose of Ascertaining the Value of Healthy Conditions of the Mouth." The facts set forth in this report are very illuminating, as the following will show:

In June, 1909, by authority of the board of education, the mouths of the 846 children enrolled in the Marion school of Cleveland were examined by competent dental surgeons. Only three were found with teeth in perfect condition—a colored boy eleven years of age, a Slav girl of ten, who had been in America about six months, and an American born child of Russian parentage, aged twelve years.

It was decided to form a test class of the children showing the worst mouth conditions in grades 4, 5, 6 and 7, aggregating 423 pupils, and, accordingly, a group of 40 of the worst mouths were selected as making a unit convenient to handle and representing approximately 10 per cent of these grades.

Before beginning any treatment each of the 40 pupils was carefully tested for memory, accuracy of perception, rapidity of thought and spontaneity of association and differentiation, individual records being made by a competent psychologist.

The following two cases, selected because one made the poorest and the other the best showing in the first psychological tests, are very significant and highly suggestive of a fertile field for practical uplift work.

Case No. 4—Girl, age thirteen. This girl made the poorest showing in the first psychological tests, and in her school record; she was three years behind grade and doing poor work in that grade. The child was dull and very slow to grasp ideas. She was suffering with severe constipation, was stolid, with no animation at all. In fact, there existed a decided mental deficiency. The dentists worked for her most of the winter; 16 teeth were filled, requiring ten amalgam and 15 cement fillings. Her teeth are now in a sound condition. She keeps them beautifully clean, is now healthy and brighter mentally, constipation entirely cured, complexion clearer and skin a good color. There has been a steady mental improvement and decided gain in flesh.

School record—Before the dental work was done her scholarship and attendance were poor; her effort was good and her conduct fair. After: scholarship, fair; effort, attendance and conduct, good.

The psychological record showed that in points of memory, spontaneous association, addition, association by opposites and quickness and accuracy of perception she made after the dental work was done a total average gain of 444.88 per cent.

Case No. 5—Boy, age eleven. Very small for his age, thin, pale and poorly nourished. He stood the highest in the first psychological tests. Three temporary teeth required attention and these were filled with three cement and two gutta percha fillings. The permanent teeth were very slow in erupting. Since his dental work has been completed he shows general improvement and has grown rugged.

School record—Before: Scholarship, good; effort, fair; attendance and conduct, poor. After: Scholarship and attendance, good; effort and conduct, excellent.

His psychological record on the points already mentioned showed a total average gain of 32 per cent.

In addition to the actual mechanical work done on the teeth and mouth tissues the children were instructed in the use of the toothbrush, also how to eat and in some degree even what to eat. Individual average gains were shown to range from a minimum of 26.102 per cent to a maximum of 918.884 per cent, and the total average gain for the entire class of 40 amounted to more than 99.7 per cent.

POTATO CROP POOR IN WEST END OF STATE.

Not for many years has the potato crop in Fulton county been so small, Irish potatoes having reached the highest price known to many people here. Most of the crops in this vicinity were a complete failure, there being too much rain early in the summer and then the drouth that followed making them a failure. The sweet potato crop is not early so good as usual and the drouth has ruined most of the late vegetables, there being fewer truck wagons around than for years before.

GAR GOES INTO RIVER.

Horace Frazier, of Birds Point, Mo., was rescued from drowning Tuesday when his Ford car went off the Kentucky bank into the Mississippi river at the ferry landing a 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The prompt action of Harrison Munster, of Wickliffe, in springing in after him saved his life. The car is on the bottom of the river with 15 feet of water over it.

Frazier crossed the river on the ferry, and in driving off at Wickliffe, his steering gear fouled, and after he had gotten off the boat and was going up the bank, the car turned around and dived off the steep bank into the river. Frazier alone was in it, two ladies who were with him having gotten out of the car on the boat.

Bondurant Bros., popular, progressive young grocers, held a very successful demonstration yesterday, advertising their line of "Sunshine" cakes and confections. Hundreds of ladies attended. Cakes and punch were served and favors of carnations were presented the guests.

BUTTON CLOVER A PROMISING NEW PLANT

Bur Clover—Taken at Chico, California.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Button clover is a new pasture plant which specialists in the United States department of agriculture are now advocating for use in the milder districts of the Southwest and along the Gulf, the South Atlantic and the Pacific coasts. This plant will succeed, it is said, wherever bur clover does well, and it is to be preferred to the latter in certain respects. Under favorable conditions it produces more seed and it has no spines on the pod or bur. For this reason it is particularly desirable for ranges where sheep are pastured. The great loss of wool occasioned by the spiny hairs of spotted or toothed bur clover getting into the fleeces is evidence, says Farmers' Bulletin 730, a new publication of the department on this subject, of the value of a species with a spineless pod.

Button clover is as yet but little known in most parts of the United States. In general appearance and manner of growth it resembles the toothed or California bur clover and the spotted or southern bur clover. The chief difference between it and these two species lies in the bur. In the case of button clover these are large and spineless, while the bur of the others are comparatively small and spiny. The button clover pods open in early summer and drop from the vines. In their ripened state they are then available at any time as food for stock.

For the best results with button clover, a growing period with no excess much as 25 to 30 per cent bur. This means lower prices for the wool and extra freight charges. With button clover this trouble is of course eliminated.

Button clover also makes good hay. For this purpose it should be cut when most of the pods are still green but well developed, and just before the leaves begin to fall. If allowed to become more mature, many of the pods, as well as the leaves, are lost in handling. A supporting crop of oats or barley or some other grain should be sown with the button clover in order to facilitate cutting. There are, however, a number of other legume crops that are more desirable for hay production than button clover, so that its use for this purpose will no doubt be very limited. For green manuring the value of the new plant is about the same as toothed and spotted bur clover.

Button clover can be easily established in pastures, for nothing more is necessary than to scatter the seed in the most favorable places. The working of the soil prior to sowing will perhaps aid in establishing a stand, but except on good land this will hardly be profitable. Ordinarily the most profitable practice is to sow the seed broadcast and allow it to compete with other pasture plants. Where the winters are mild, the clover should be sown in the fall, and if there are summer rains the seedling should be done about the first of September. Early summer seedling in the cotton states is not advisable.

Small Amount of Wheat Was Sown With the Button Clover.

tremes of temperature is essential. The plant is not adapted to sections with a winter temperature below 18 degrees Fahrenheit, and it does not do well in extreme heat. In the United States it is believed that it will do best in a narrow strip extending along the entire length of the Pacific coast. In southwestern Arizona and southern Nevada, and along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts as far north as South Carolina. A fairly well-drained rich loamy soil is desirable, but the crop can be grown on almost any soil which contains sufficient moisture. Under rather arid conditions it makes a fair growth, but in the dry foothill pastures of California it has done no better than the common toothed bur clover.

The principal value of the new plant is for pasturage. In the green state it is readily eaten by live stock and, as has been said, the absence of spines in the bur makes it especially desirable on sheep ranges. This fact has been recognized for some time in Australia. In districts which produce an abundance of spiny bur clovers, it has been found that fleeces often contain as much as 25 to 30 per cent bur. This means lower prices for the wool and extra freight charges. With button clover this trouble is of course eliminated. Button clover also makes good hay. For this purpose it should be cut when most of the pods are still green but well developed, and just before the leaves begin to fall. If allowed to become more mature, many of the pods, as well as the leaves, are lost in handling. A supporting crop of oats or barley or some other grain should be sown with the button clover in order to facilitate cutting. There are, however, a number of other legume crops that are more desirable for hay production than button clover, so that its use for this purpose will no doubt be very limited. For green manuring the value of the new plant is about the same as toothed and spotted bur clover.

In comparison with the spotted and toothed bur clover, button clover produces a large amount of seed. The harvesting of it is rather difficult, however, because the bur fall from the vines so easily.

REPUBLICANS INJECT RELIGION INTO FIGHT.

New York, Sept. 19.—Religion is to be injected into the political campaign by the Republican National committee within the next week, according to present plans, through the instrumentality of a moving picture based on a scenario written by Hal Reid and produced by Mr. Reid, assisted by Everett Colby, former Progressive State Senator of New Jersey and now an active member of the Republican national campaign committee.

The film will be turned over to the Republican national committee by Mr. Reid and if present plans are not changed will be distributed throughout the country by the national committee, the picture to be displayed under the auspices of or by arrangement with, the various Republican state committees.

In addition to bringing a religious issue into the campaign the picture, of which Mr. Reid is very proud and which Mr. Colby asserts is a "corker," constitutes an attack upon the President of the United States, unique in conception and amazing in its development.

One of the chief scenes of this photoplay shows a group of Catholic nuns fleeing in terror from a band of Villistas before a convent in Mexico. They are overtaken, seized by the Mexican bandits and dragged into the underground, screaming and protesting. Instantly there is flashed on the screen a picture of President Wilson at his desk in Washington, his head resting on his arms, asleep.

This is but one of the so-called "historical scenes" which Mr. Reid's photoplay shows. There are many others, the historical accuracy of which might be questioned. It is in this scene, however, that the religious question is brought prominently to the fore, though in a subtle manner.

HIGHER FREIGHT MAKES COAL COST MORE.

Along with the cooler weather, citizens of Hickman are beginning to feel the effects of the 25c-a-ton raise on coal rates, recently put into effect on the N. C. & St. Ry., from west Kentucky fields to Hickman. The Mengel Box Co., a large user of coal, a couple of weeks ago received a big shipment of coal by river, at a saving over rail rates, although they were at a great disadvantage in unloading it on account of the extreme low water. Unloading facilities will doubtless be re-built in the near future, which will enable a dealer and large consumers to get coal at the old price. The advance in freight was allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission because they were informed Hickman now received no coal by river; while as a matter of fact hundreds of tons are received every year by barge—especially coal for domestic use. Memphis enjoys a low rate by reason of river competition, and we are told that not a ton of river coal is used in Memphis except for coaling steamboats. Hickman ought to have a similar rate. The present rate will justify the installation of unloading facilities for handling barge coal and the saving of one year will be more than equal to the cost of the plant, since the advance in freight will cost our citizens thousands of dollars of dollars more each year.

RIVER IS NOW LOWER THAN FOR YEARS.

The Mississippi river is getting so low that it looks like a mere creek in places. The present reading on the Cairo gauge is slightly less than 10 feet — the lowest stage recorded in several years. The low water also reveals several changes in the channel and formation of new sand bars, among which is a noticeable change opposite Hickman. Long stretches of sand bar are emerging as the river falls and one could possibly wade 300 to 500 yards from the opposite bank.

SUN BROTHERS CIRCUS COMING TO HICKMAN.

Possibly no better show will appear here, than the Great Sun Brothers' World's Progressive Aggregation, which is scheduled to exhibit at Hickman on Monday Oct. 9.

The traveling tented show is today America's most popular form of outdoor amusement and it is a perennial favorite with all classes of people. The Sun Brothers' Show for this season is a great, big, first class exhibition, with many stunning new features, fine horses, strange animals and a host of foreign and American novelty displays. The largest tents ever erected in this town are employed by this show. Everything is done for the great comfort of all visitors and seats are provided for all patrons.

The newly added trained animal tourney is this season a new attraction, and includes a bunch of amazingly trained lions, tigers, leopards, kangaroos, elephants, baboons, etc.

Two complete performances will be offered here, afternoon and night. The usual free outdoor exhibitions will be given at noon-time, on the show grounds, and are free to the public.

WHAT IS YOUR TIME WORTH TO YOU?

Everyone's time is worth something so when you lose time from your work you lose money. When you take calomel it makes you sick and causes you to lose time from your work and is liable to salivate you. Lemolac is a guaranteed substitute for calomel that is pleasant to take and as it does not gripe, sicken or salivate it is rapidly taking the place of dangerous, unpleasant calomel. You don't have to take a day off when you take Lemolac, so it is worth to you in proportion to what your time is worth, yet a large bottle costs you only 50 cents. You may eat or drink what you desire while taking Lemolac. We are more than anxious to have you try Lemolac at our risk and will pleasantly refund your money if not entirely satisfactory. — Helm & Ellison.

P. S.—If you forget the name spell calomel backwards. Advt.

Now that the strike is off, the next thing we hear of will no doubt be another boost in freight rates. That will mean more boosts in the retail prices of everything, for it is not the railroads or the dealers that pay the freight—it is the consumer. If the manufacturer adds five per cent to his prices the wholesaler will take another ten or perhaps more, and there is no telling how much more will be taken from the public before it reaches the consumer. If it was simply an increase of the one five per cent or so all along the line, it would not be such a burden. But it is not. Every fellow who handles it wants to such a little extra blood from the turnip, until by the time it reaches your home or business office the original cost is multiplied many fold. How does it feel to be a goat, anyway?—Ex.

Courier's Home Circle

There is evil enough in man, God knows; but it is not the mission of every young man and woman to detail and report it all. Keep the atmosphere as pure as possible, and fragrant with gentleness and charity.

Earn your own bread and see how sweet it will be. Work and see how well you will be. Work and see how cheerful you will be. Work and see how independent you will be. Work and see how happy your family will be. Work and see how religious you will be.

The effort at "pleasing mother" should be cultivated in the childish heart. Early in life they should begin the cultivation of thought and effort with reference to the gratification of her wishes and of making her happy. If they would do this they would find daily opportunities for speaking kind words and rendering such helpful services and showing such noble traits of character in dealing with others, as would gladden the heart and lighten the cares of mother in a way too often little thought of. If boys, if girls, could but realize their indebtedness to their mothers they certainly would generally be very much more anxious about pleasing them.

There is a vast difference between a house and a home. The house is but the building and furniture, the outward shelter and gathering place of the household. The home includes the kindly family affection, the thoughtful care and ready sympathy and mutual confidence and trust of the members. A true home breathes the atmosphere of love. A child should be made to feel that his home is indeed a home, the happiest place in the world to him, not merely an outward shelter and resting place, but a center of of enjoyment by love, the thought and remembrance of which shall be the safeguard of his life as he goes forth in the world, giving strength and proportion to his character and turning his thoughts to all that may prepare for the heavenly home when the scenes of earth shall have passed away.

"He who would, free from malice, pass his days, must live obscure and never merit praise." So breathed one who had passed through many life battles. He had been a close observer. Malice never communes with the good. "Malice toward none and charity for all," has been the thought of great souls ever since creation's dawn. All along the pathway of life where that thought has been the most dwelt upon there have always budded and bloomed the sweetest flowers. Where that principle has been practiced the most, and applied the most, round about have fluttered in the air the prettiest birds and with the sweetest tunes. Where that virtue has the most deeply penetrated human souls, there can be found the purest and highest civilization, the loveliest temples and the most beautiful cottages with the most fruitful vines of love twining about.

There is no use standing idly, crying about what you would do if you had capital. Providence endowed you with capital if you will only use it. Brains and muscle working together in harmony always win. It is what a man was endowed with them for. If such valuable capital is left to rest and rot the possessor will live in poverty and obscurity as he ought to. Cease whining and go to work. Keep away from saloons and gambling houses. Throw aside that eager and remove that horrible quid from your mouth. Abandon all useless expenses and no matter how small your income, save a certain per cent of it each year and soon you will have credit, capital and wealth. The road is plain, easy and certain. Providence has given you capital—don't bury it—go forth and "a thousand and a year" shall be thine.

FARMERS GET $1.47 A DAY.

There is one class of citizens whose condition is worse than that of the most lowly railroad laborer and that is the farmer. We have in this nation six and a half million farms and they yield the farmers who operate them, according to a recent bulletin on farm income issued by the Federal Department of Agriculture, $1.47, out of which must be paid the living expenses of the family. There are four and a half million male farm laborers in the

"The Dry Goods Man"

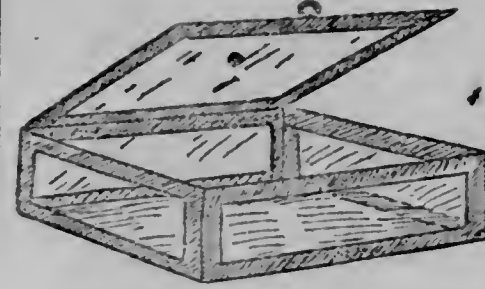

IS REALLY PRETTY PRESENT

Anything made of glass always has a peculiar fascination, and such boxes as these are really easy to make and form most handsome presents.

The box described here looks beautiful on the dressing table and can be used as a jewel box or can be put on a table in the drawing room to display delicate curios or other small trinkets, as the contents can always be seen, yet are protected from dust and fear of accident.

Ordinary clear glass will be required, and this will doubtless be found about the house in the shape of a picture glass. The glazier for a dime or two will cut the required sizes out, and if asked will round off the corner edges and smooth down any sharp points.

The sizes required for such a box as illustrated are as follows: Two pieces 8 inches by 5 inches (for top and bottom of the box), two pieces 8 inches by 3 inches (for front and back), two pieces 5 inches by 3 inches (for sides).

To put the glass together, ribbon will be required, about 4 yards, from 1½ to 2 inches in width. Just fold the ribbon lengthwise, then iron it; sew one folded end together and slip a piece of glass between the fold; stretch the ribbon tightly along the glass, cut off the end of the piece; turn the edges of ends in and over; sew; it should grip the glass quite tightly.

Frame each edge of the glass in the same way with a ribbon border. When the pieces have all been framed the box is put together by oversewing the ribbon edges together; use silk or thread to sew with that is the same color as the ribbon.

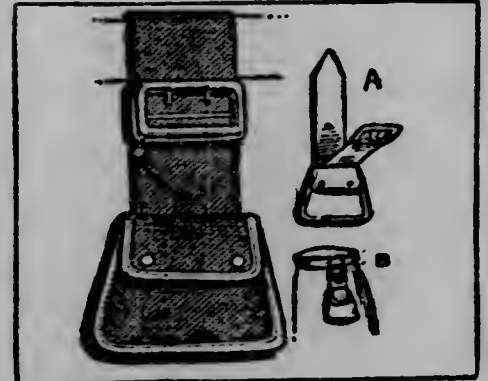

For a little touch, buttonhole a tiny ring with the silk and sew in the center of the top lid edge. At the bottom of the box lay a piece of colored satin or silk the color of the ribbon used, and the pretty box is complete.

USE FOR OLD WAISTBAND

Discarded Article May Be Made of Service in This Way, and Will Last Some Time.

A good use to which an old leather band and buckle may be put is illustrated by the accompanying sketch. In the way of using a portion of it in suspending a purse or small bag from the waist.

The bag shown in the sketch is a simple and useful little article to make for this purpose, but there are many small bags and bag-purses already in existence that could be used in the way shown. The band will most probably have to be shortened a little, and it can easily be cut down to any required length. It is sewn onto the top of the bag in the position shown in diagram A. The pointed end is then passed under the waist-belt and fastened into the buckle, with the result to be seen in the larger sketch.

Use for Old Waistband.

Diagram B shows the bag hanging in position upon the left-hand side of the skirt, where the contents will be easily accessible.

The bag shown can be made of silk chosen possibly of a color to match the belt, and it is lined with satin and bound at the edges with narrow ribbon. It can either be made to fasten with snap fasteners or small buttons and buttonholes.

Dainty Summer Dresses.

Flowered cotton voile is one of the prettiest summer fabrics, and there are lovely colored organdies and delicately hued batistes. These are generously trimmed with narrow quillings, touches of hand embroidery and showers of ribbon bows. The sleeves are always wide. Some of these dresses are worn over a princess slip of taffeta of washable satin, which has a crinoline or halreloth lining arranged in the form of strips on the under side. Other ideas simply employ a cable cord inserted at intervals from hem to hip.

Petticoats With Yokes.

Petticoats are now being made with deep pointed yokes upon which are set net or thin silk foundations ruffled right down to the hem. A few of these petticoats are slightly stiffened, but most of them have merely a heavy cord around the bottom and a width of hair lace.

GIRL COULD NOT WORK

How She Was Relieved from Pain by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I had pains in both sides and when my periods came I had to stay at home from work and suffer a long time. One day a woman came to our house and asked my mother why I was suffering. Mother told her that I suffered every month and she said, 'Why don't you buy a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My mother bought it and the next month I was so well that I worked all the month without staying at home a day. I am in good health now and have told lots of girls about it."—Miss CLARICE MORRIS, 22 Russell Street, Taunton, Mass.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The fine, new ferry boat belonging to the Hickman Ferry Co., of which J. H. Pickett is head, has been completed and is now in service. She is to run between Hickman and Dorena, Mo., and made her first trip Saturday, bringing over 35 passengers and one load of cotton.

This boat is doubtless the best ever used in the Hickman ferry service—both in point of capacity and equipment. She is propelled by the latest type of marine engine, which enables her to run from Hickman to Dorena—two and one-half miles in ten minutes, and returning upstream, loaded, in 20 minutes.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER.

Crashes Into Sour Bile, Making You Sick And You Lose A Day's Work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel come into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it. Ad.

UNCROWNED HEROES.

A few weeks ago there was an explosion in one of the Du Pont war munition factories. A number of men were badly burned. They were quickly removed to the nearest hospital and there lingered between life and death. Their suffering was abated by the use of opium.

There was one chance in a thousand for each of the victims. New skin had to be grafted over the burned surface.

A plea was made by the relatives of the sufferers and by the hospital authorities for 10,000 square inches of human skin.

In response to the appeal many volunteers came forward offering to contribute part of their skin in order that a human life might be saved. Whether the required amount was secured has never been publicly stated; probably not for the essence of heroism is expressed in the willingness of a man to yield part of his skin to be engrafted on the maimed body of another. The man who does give up part of his body to save a suffering brother is justly entitled to the highest honors of the Carnegie hero fund.

A majority of those who offered themselves as a public sacrifice were saved, but others paid the fatal penalty.

The cause of humanity was the only appeal made to these volunteers. This was a beautiful evidence of unselfishness. These men evidently thought that it was better to give than to receive. So thought the men who expressed a willingness to yield their skin that others might be saved.

Tilman Berkley, of Graves county, was fined $200 upon the charge of assault. The trouble grew out of the loss of $350 by his father-in-law, A. NEGRO KILLS ANOTHER.

Friday night about 9:45 o'clock at the L. C. passenger depot, in Fulton, Melvin Gibbs, colored, shot and instantly killed Jim Green, colored.

The trouble, it is said, was over the alleged theft of $8 which Gibbs claimed Green stole from his wife.

Earlier in the evening Gibbs solicited the aid of an officer to help him in finding Green with a view of getting the stolen money. The railroad yards were searched and it was while Gibbs was seated in the waiting room at the depot that Green made his appearance and the two negroes met face to face, but Gibbs proved to be the quickest with his gun after a few words of argument, and sent a bullet through Green's head, killing him instantly. It is said that Green attempted to use his gun but was not quick enough.

CASE OF W. D. WILLIAMS
HEARD IN CIRCUIT COURT.

The case of the State of Tennessee versus W. D. Williams, charged with the killing of David Mays, a youth of Fulton county, Ky., in Union City, on the morning of May 13, 1916, a little after midnight, was tried at Union City last week and Williams given from one to five years for manslaughter.

Mr. Williams was called to stand and testified in his own behalf, recounting the shooting of the boy, substantially as follows:

Williams and the boy came down Harrison street, and at the corner of Reynolds theatre the boy started to run south on Depot street. Officer Williams called at the boy to stop and fired in order to frighten the boy and cause him to stop. In running the boy turned to the left along the street. Mr. Williams purposely fired out of range and slightly upwards, he thought, in order to miss the boy. The boy had evidently turned to the right in the range. The boy fell and the officer ran up to him, asking him if he was hurt, having no idea he had shot him. But the boy said he was wounded, and Mr. Williams found it was true, the clothing being stained with blood.

Mr. Williams immediately called for help and sent for Dr. Blanton. He called for an automobile and picked the boy up and then came up the street to the Niles drug store corner. There he placed the boy on the walk, waiting for the physician. Here Mr. Williams told the boy he was in a dangerous condition, and the boy replied that he was going to die. The boy added: "I forgive you for everything you have done; it was not your fault, but mine."

Judge Jones ruled as incompetent the testimony referring to Mays' dying declaration to the effect that he held the officer blameless.

J. L. Allen, of Cayce, was placed on the stand. He has a general merchandise store. His place was broken into one night in May just prior to the shooting here of David Mays and a number of articles, including pocket knives, cigarettes, flashlights and some cheap jewelry. Mr. Allen valued the jewelry, which was used as prizes for a punch board game, sold to him by a traveling man from Fulton, by the name of Jenkins, very highly, when he instituted a search of David's trunk or chest at the boy's home on the night after the shooting occurred here. Mr. Allen admitted when cross examined by the State that he did not know the actual worth of the jewelry, and no one deputized him to go search David's trunk. Counsel for defense tried to prove that David's character was not good, that he was of a roving disposition, by the witness. Articles found in David's trunk, among which was 14 packages of cigarettes, were shown to witness, identified and filed as evidence. These articles after being found in David's trunk had been turned over to an Obion county deputy for this case. A lavalliere taken from David by Mr. Williams was identified by Mr. Allen as his. Its empty case was found in David's trunk.

On the other hand a large number of prominent citizens of the Cayce neighborhood testified to the good character of the deceased.

David was a member of one of Fulton's county's best families, being a grandson of W. H. Treus, of near Hickman.

POULTRY NOTES

(By H. L. KEMSTER, Missouri College of Agriculture.)

As the chicks grow they need more room. It does not pay to let them crowd.

Beware of musty, moldy, sour or decayed food. It is sure to cause trouble.

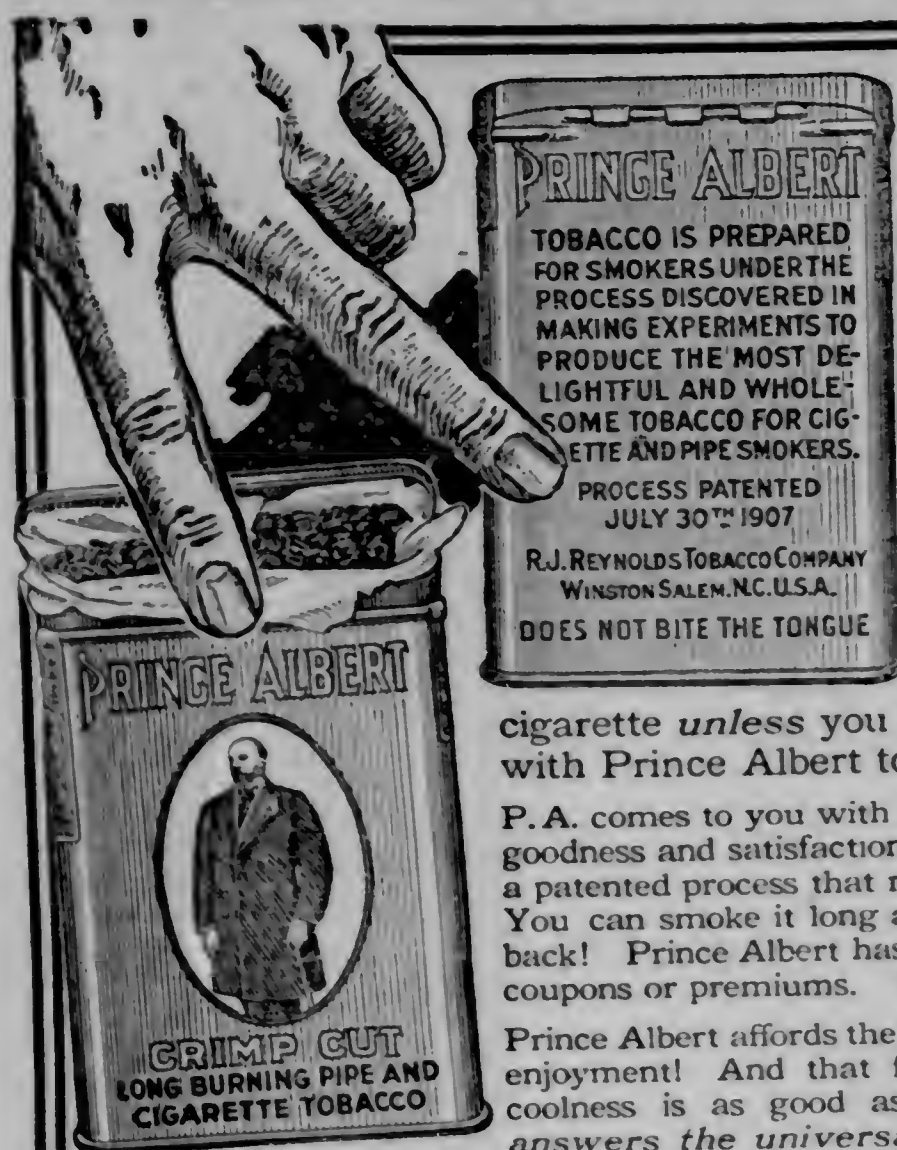

Tough grass is of no value as a green food. Better sow some quick-growing crop.

Feed hoppers greatly reduce the work. If they are kept filled, the chicks will never go hungry.

Grit and oyster shell should be included in the ration for both young and old. To neglect this would be poor economy.

Young stock will do better if not compelled to pick their living with the old. There will also be less trouble from lice.

Shade is one of the most important essentials during the hot months. Get the chicks into the orchard and cornfield. It is not too late to plant sunflowers.

SWEET POTATOES PAY.

Whether it is to be used as a food for the table, as a feed crop for animals or a producer of starch, the sweet potato is probably one of the most profitable crops the South Carolina farmer can grow.

The best method of planting sweet potatoes is with cuttings from vines. If slip beds were not set out early enough this year for plants to be sufficiently large for good vine cuttings at this time, or if no slips were grown, it is advisable to buy cuttings from a neighbor. Planting slips is more expensive than vine cuttings. Besides, the fungi which produce rots are less likely to be carried on a vine cutting than on slips pulled directly from the old potatoes. Thus potatoes grown from vine cuttings will probably be freer from rot than those grown from slips.

A fertilizer suggested for sweet potatoes is 500 pounds kanit, 300 pounds cotton seed meal and 200 pounds of 16 per cent phosphate. This should be applied at the rate of 800 to 1,000 pounds per acre.

Frequent shallow cultivation is important in sweet potato growing, as in the culture of many other crops.—Clemson College Bulletin.
